

HOPE RISING Who Knows? Like a bloodhound, I'm hunting hope on a long trail so we can nab it for the nations. "God said it; I believe it. That settles it?" That slogan was very popular among Bible believing preachers when I first started out in ministry (1951 in the summer "revival meeting" in a Mississippi country church). So down through the years I have been of the persuasion that once God spoke something, buddy-boy, that was it! Now I find myself in a most humbled position of asking, "Please Lord, does it all have to happen just because you once said it? Yes, you said it, but why did you say it? You said it, but is it inevitable? Is it written in eternal concrete?" If you have read my writings (www.israelownsthechurch.com), you know how often I refer to Zechariah 12-14. That is because from there God has been screaming out to me non-stop for seven years a blaring, don't-you-quit-warning, wake up call. It's based on what he said to his prophet. I am seized, possessed, and beside myself that this whole generation is in tremendous trouble. I match the signs of the times on the ground today with conditions laid out in the Bible and my spirit trembles. I hear those rejoicing that the King is coming—and I know he is. But contrary to centuries of false church teaching, Jesus is not, not, NOT going to sweep us out of here before all the trouble starts! That doctrine was a devil's deception to distract us so he could annihilate us! Snap out of it! Shake awake and throw it away! Toss it! Forget it and get ready to go through something. Please do. Stuff is coming at us—already! "Nations" Time Now I have learned that God thinks not only "persons"; not only individuals, but also God thinks "cities" and "nations." Like King of the Israel nation and King of all the nations. We all belong to a city or a nation that must give account to God. Before we look at the nations in Zechariah, remember: "...whatever was written in earlier times was written for our instruction, so that through perseverance and the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope." Romans 15:4 (NASB) This was written in earlier times but it speaks to these times when "The King is coming." Is it possible that God can use it "for our instruction so that through perseverance and the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope?" On first read, I do not see encouragement and hope here anywhere in the context, but stay with me as we get positioned for a fresh look and seek God for a deeper level of understanding. 2 For I will gather all the nations to battle against Jerusalem... 3 Then the LORD will go forth and fight against those nations... 12 And this shall be the plague with which the LORD will strike all the people who fought against Jerusalem: Their flesh shall dissolve while they stand on their feet, Their eyes shall dissolve in their sockets, And their tongues shall dissolve in their mouths. 13 It shall come to pass in that day that a great panic from the LORD will be among them... (See Zech 14:2-21 NKJV.) Is this repulsive scene eternally fixed in the courtroom of heaven? Obviously God has said it. Is any part of it "open to change?" If part of it is and part is not, how do we know which part cannot be changed and which part may possibly be changed? And to what degree and under what conditions may it be changed? Do we dare hope that part of it is changeable, once God has spoken it? Why is it written here? If some part can be changed, what can we do to get it changed? If we can do it, are we willing to do whatever God requires in order for him to orchestrate change? Are we willing to pay some kind of price to bring change? If none of it can be changed or if we refuse to pay the cost for change to come—oh God!
