

Lauren is headed back to school, this time not as a fun-loving coed but to achieve her dream of turning the family farm into Idaho's first Heritage Seed Center. Selling organic produce at the local farmers market, she meets Miles. After an unexpected act of kindness toward her daughter, Lauren agrees to one date. As a VP and heir apparent to HN Seeds, the family business, Miles unknowingly holds the future of Lauren's farm in his hands. Lauren is looking for anything but a romance. She's got too much on her plate to risk the distraction. But he plays the one card Lauren can't resist, family. Miles needs Lauren and her daughter to feel at home. And Lauren needs Miles and his large extended family more than she knows. But can she forgive the one betrayal that would ruin all of her plans for the future? When an organic farming activist meets the heir apparent for the corporate farm that's buying up the small farmers all around her, she only agrees to one date to thank him for a kindness to her daughter. Will she be able to stand firm when he offers her the world, in exchange for selling the only home they've ever had?
